Building a Culture of Life in a Post-Roe World (Pt. 2)

Statement by Archbishop William E. Lori, Chairman, USCCB Committee on Pro-Life Activities

Speaking and Living the Truth with Compassion

What does this mean concretely? How do we practice radical solidarity and unconditional love in a post-Roe world? First, by speaking the truth that abortion not only unjustly kills a pre-born child, but also gravely wounds women, men, families, and the nation as a whole. It degrades the practice of medicine and corrupts the law. We must speak these truths with compassion, and we must live these truths with compassion. We must extend the hand of compassion to all who suffer or are in need in the aftermath of abortion, including those who do not yet see the truth in its fullness. Moreover, the call to love compels us to practice civility and charity when we speak to and about those with whom we disagree.

Words alone are not nearly enough to bring about the revolution of love necessary to create a world where all mothers, children, and families are welcomed and protected. For this we must have the courage to love—to act and bear witness by caring for the least among us, without condition or expectation of recompense. It is only through such radical witness that hearts will be softened such that they can receive the truth of the Gospel of Life.

Concretely, as Saint Pope John Paul II wrote in his letter to the Fourth World Conference on Women of the United Nations, “a radical solidarity with women requires that the underlying causes which make a child unwanted be addressed.” Twenty-five years later, Pope Francis echoed the same sentiment in his 2020 address to the United Nations. Abortion is a brutal result of our failure to care for one another. Building a world in which women are esteemed, children are loved and protected, and men are called to their responsibilities as fathers, requires us to understand and address the complex and tragic tangle of affliction and strife that culminates in the violence of abortion. This is a massive and daunting undertaking.

Fortunately, Catholics already have a strong foundation in the Church’s centuries-long encouragement of parental and societal duties. Millions of individual Catholics from all walks of life are already personally endeavoring to build the bonds of solidarity and compassion throughout our society. Many are engaged in parish and community initiatives such as pregnancy resource centers, post-abortion counseling, and, more recently, Walking with Moms in Need.

The Catholic Church is the largest charitable provider of social services to women, children, and families in the United States. Only the federal government through tax dollars does more. Catholics have already done much at both the institutional and personal level to help address the problems of poverty, healthcare, education, housing, employment, addiction, criminal justice, domestic violence, and the like that push women towards abortion. Our Church understands that parents, children, and families need help not just during pregnancy, but throughout the whole of life’s journey because millions of Catholics already accompany their neighbors in such circumstances. Additionally, such help involves accompanying parents as they make the courageous choice to make an adoption plan for their child that will provide a place of genuine belonging, grafting them as a son or daughter onto a new family tree. And the Church also extends healing and mercy to those women and men who suffer because of a past abortion. But we must now do even more.

A New Politics

Our nation is in desperate need of healing from the toxic polarization and anger that has poisoned so much of our politics in recent years. A paradigm shift from an abandonment of women masquerading as freedom to radical solidarity can open the way to a new politics. Those who disagree on the morality or justice of abortion should nonetheless come together to pursue common-ground solutions to provide care and support to mothers, children, and families in need. Public officials can stake out new ground, to move beyond the political divisions of Left and Right and build a new coalition of people of good will that will focus on the best outcomes for those in need by whatever means—public or private—that prove to be most effective.

Conclusion

Almost fifty years after Roe v. Wade, the Supreme Court has finally returned to the American people the authority to govern ourselves on the matter of abortion. Of course, justice requires that the basic protections of the law against violence be extended to the preborn child. But justice alone is not enough. The opportunity which the Supreme Court has given us is not an opportunity to look backward and return to the past. Instead, it is a calling to Catholics at every level to look forward and build a better future—a future in which the new hallmarks of our society will be solidarity, compassion, reconciliation, and a new unity as a nation. We are not atomized individuals seeking to impose our wills in a world of strife. To the contrary, we belong to each other, and each of us was made for love and friendship. Accordingly, we must live and act in radical solidarity with mothers, children, and families in need. That means doing whatever we can through law, policy, politics, and culture to provide them with the care and support necessary for their flourishing throughout the entire arc of life’s journey. Through our collective and individual actions, we can build a culture of life and civilization of love in America. Let us begin.

QUESTION: If I were in Zacchaeus's shoes and Jesus was coming to my home while others called me a sinner, what wrongs would I pledge to make right? What bold promises would I make?

MISSION: Spend ten minutes a day with the Scriptures for one week. Choose your passages from the Gospel and read only as much as you can savor for one day. Let this good news interact with the overexposure to bad news.

HURRICANE IAN RELIEF

The Diocese of St. Petersburg is helping those affected by Hurricane Ian. Bishop Gregory Parkes is asking all parishes and missions in the Diocese of St. Petersburg to hold a special collection for Disaster Relief in October. One hundred percent of the disaster relief funds will benefit people and the Church affected by natural disasters, including those impacted by Hurricane Ian in our own Diocese.

Since 2017, the Diocese of St. Petersburg has donated over $1 million for disaster relief. Thank you for your generosity toward those attempting to rebuild their lives following catastrophic events, such as Hurricane Ian, and for being Christ’s hands in the world.

STEWARDSHIP

Stewardship is more than being a good manager of one's time, talents, and treasure. The discipline of biblical stewardship calls us to use all these gifts in the way the Lord desires: to employ them not for us, but for His glory. Thank you for sharing His gifts!

Did You Know?

Congress has permanently enacted qualified charitable distributions from your traditional IRA accounts. These distributions can be used to satisfy all or a portion of your Required Minimum Distribution. These distributions are free of federal and state income tax. Additionally, these gifts help you avoid the Medicare high income surcharge and can help to reduce taxes on your Social Security benefits. Distributions must be made directly from your IRA account to St. Jerome.

ST. JUDE AWARD MEDAL RECIPIENTS

Congratulations to Mike and Marissa Guarino, this year's recipients of the St. Jude Medal from St. Jerome. This honor recognizes their dedication to our parish over time, particularly to our youth. May God bless them for their generosity and continue to lead them in His footsteps. They will be honored by Bishop Parkes at the Cathedral on Sunday, October 30.

GriefShare "From Mourning to Joy"

GriefShare at St. Jerome meets on Tuesdays in the Education Building Art Room from 10:00 AM-11:30 AM. We look forward to meeting you and welcoming you into a place of support and compassion for your grief journey.

ADULT CONFIRMATION CLASSES AND CELEBRATION OF THE SACRAMENT OF CONFIRMATION

Are you an adult who has not celebrated the sacrament of Confirmation? Adult Catholics (ages 15 years and older) who have been baptized, received First Eucharist and are practicing their faith but have not received the Sacrament of Confirmation are invited to participate in a preparation program.

In the Sacrament of Confirmation the individual's Baptism is reinforced and sealed. This sacrament, like baptism, may only be celebrated once. It is closely linked with baptism in that there is an anointing with oil (Chrism), laying on of hands, and a special activity of the Holy Spirit. When celebrated apart from Baptism and First Communion, the bishop or a priest designated by him is the minister of Confirmation.

The preparation program comprises of six sessions in which you, the adult, will be advised of the process for this preparation and what is required. The sessions begin on October 27 from 7:00– 8:00PM in the Parish Office Conference Room.

For further information and to sign up, please contact Sister Lucia at 727-595-4610 or srlucia@stjeromeonline.org.

REGARDING THE DIGNITY OF HUMAN LIFE

"Human life must be respected and protected absolutely from the moment of conception. From the first moment of his existence, a human being must be recognized as having the rights of a person among which is the inviolable right of every innocent being to life."

#2270 Catechism of the Catholic Church

Large Crowds at Mass: For those concerned about attending Sunday Mass with large numbers, the following Masses tend to have fewer people: Saturday: 5:30PM Sunday: 12:30PM and 5:00PM.

Masking Updates & Communion

We are mindful that there are some, who due to health, need to wear a mask. We have masks available in the back of the chapel if you need one. Low gluten hosts or regular hosts will be available during Communion at the back of the chapel. Please let the minister know that you wish to receive a low gluten host when you approach them for Holy Communion. The minister distributing low gluten hosts will continue to wear a mask for those who might have a concern for their health.

We welcome those that are joining us virtually through the livestreaming of our Masses. We thank you for being a part of our community here at St. Jerome.
